

South Ossetia has been in conflict with the state of Georgia since just before the dissolution of the Soviet Union in the early 1990's. The dispute is essentially based on South Ossetia's wish for independence; a wish supported by The Russian Federation.

Despite great tension and armed conflict between Georgia and Sochi, Russia still managed to emerge victorious in the competition to win the right to host the Sochi 2014 Winter Games. This conflict ran during the Beijing Games, meaning that Russia was forced to break the terms of the Olympic Truce.

Image created by Marc Lacoste and reproduced under a Creative Commons licence.

BACKGROUND TO THE CONFLICT

Tensions escalated significantly in 2008 when Mikheil Saakashvili was elected Georgian president in 2004, gaining many votes on his promise to re-unite the country. A series of clashes between Georgian and South Ossetian's quickly followed, culminating in a Georgian aerial bombardment and ground attack on South Ossetia on 7 August, 2008. Occupation of the South Ossetian capital Tskhinvali by Georgian forces quickly followed.

Russia responded immediately by sending thousands of troops into the South Ossetia region and by launching bombing raids both over the contested province and within other areas of Georgia.

Many analysts warned that the conflict might exert a significant and detrimental affect on Russia's chances of winning the right to stage the Games, but it can be observed that the conflict did not, in fact, provide a hurdle to Russia's victory in acquiring the title of host city of the 2014 Games.

BACKGROUND TO THE BID

Three cities (Salzburg, Sochi and PyeongChang) submitted a Candidature File to the IOC in January 2007, in a bid to become the official Host City of the XXII Winter Olympic Games. Despite initially trailing in the first round of the selection process to PyeongChang (Republic of Korea), the Russian Federation finally emerged victorious as the official Host City of the 2014 XXII Winter Olympic Games, securing 51 votes against PyeongChang's 47 in the second and final round of voting.

SOCHI: 'THE RUSSIAN RIVIERA'

Sochi, a beautiful city of 400,000 residents, is a favoured location of Vladimir Putin and Russia's financial elite. It is located between the Black Sea and the Caucasus Mountains in southern Russia, in the heart of the 'Russian Riviera', Sochi is also notably close to the separatist Abkhazia region that is part of the military conflict that began in 2008 over Georgia's breakaway South Ossetia province, raising concerns about the political volatility of the area in relation to its ability to stage the Games.

Image created by Jon Wick and reproduced under a Creative Commons licence.

FIND OUT MORE

Sochi Olympics website

www.sochi2014.org

Olympics website:

www.olympic.org

National Geographic website: Eastern Europe

Facts & Figures (Georgia)

http://travel.nationalgeographic.com/places/countries/country\_georgia\_cntry.html

CREDITS

© Oxford Brookes University 2010. oxb:060111:002dd

This resource was produced as part of the 2012 Learning Legacies Project managed by the HEA Hospitality, Leisure, Sport and Tourism Subject Centre at Oxford Brookes University and was released as an Open Educational Resource. The project was funded by HEFCE and part of the JISC/HE Academy UKOER programme. Except where otherwise noted above and below, this work is released under a Creative Commons Attribution only licence.

Exceptions to the Licence

The name of Oxford Brookes University and the Oxford Brookes University logo are the name and registered marks of Oxford Brookes University. To the fullest extent permitted by law Oxford Brookes University reserves all its rights in its name and marks, which may not be used except with its written permission.

The JISC logo is licensed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution-Non-Commercial-No Derivative Works 2.0 UK: England & Wales Licence. All reproductions must comply with the terms of that licence.

The Higher Education Academy logo and the HEA Hospitality, Leisure, Sport and Tourism Subject Centre logo are owned by the Higher Education Academy Limited and may be freely distributed and copied for educational purposes only, provided that appropriate acknowledgement is given to the Higher Education Academy as the copyright holder and original publisher.

Reusing this work

To refer to or reuse parts of this work please include the copyright notice above including the serial number. The only exception is if you intend to only reuse a part of the work with its own specific copyright notice, in which case cite that.

If you create a new piece of work based on the original (at least in part), it will help other users to find your work if you modify and reuse this serial number. When you reuse this work, edit the serial number by choosing 3 letters to start (your initials or institutional code are good examples), change the date section (between the colons) to your creation date in ddmmyy format and retain the last 5 digits from the original serial number. Make the new serial number your copyright declaration or add it to an existing one, e.g. 'abc:101011:002dd'.

If you create a new piece of work or do not wish to link a new work with any existing materials contained within, a new code should be created. Choose your own 3-letter code, add the creation date and search as below on Google with a plus sign at the start, e.g. '+tom:030504'. If nothing comes back citing this code then add a new 5-letter code of your choice to the end, e.g.; ':01lex', and do a final search for the whole code. If the search returns a positive result, make up a new 5-letter code and try again. Add the new code your copyright declaration or add it to an existing one.